

Police Wipe Out Nest of Pirates

SINGAPORE, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The "leper gang," Southeast Asia's most desperate pirate band, has been wiped out in a 24-hour battle with 1,000 police and civilian volunteers in the Sumatran fishing port of Bagan Sialapi, eyewitnesses said upon arrival here today.

The band's 15 Malays and Chinese were killed, including the chief, Tan Teu Hui, a 34-year-old Chinese known as the "leper."

The gang, believed to have been responsible for most of the piracy in the Straits of Malacca in the last few months, operated from a motor launch maintained its own ammunition dumps and had a wide-spread espionage system to report ship movements.

Chinese merchants arriving from Bagan Sialapi said the battle started when the "leper" walked into police headquarters in a small boat and demanded a ransom of $10,000.

Later in the day, police and civilian volunteers surrounded the pirate headquarters and began the fight which ended with the last pirate was dead.

Miners Strike

Today said that although he had received no advice from officers of District 18, they stopped work according to the principles of the "five mines" no contract, no work.

FIVE MINES, settling in the foothills of the Canadian Rockies about 100 miles southeast of Calgary, were closed by the strike.

Attitude of miners in British Columbia, at Kitimat, B.C., and Alberta miners in Lethbridge, Canada, and in the United States, was known. The union has a total membership of about 8,000 in the whole area.

Officials of both the British and American coal operators associations declined comment on the strike.

It was understood that the Crows' Nest miners had acted without union authorization, reverting to the CMAA's non-union work on their own authority.

Regulations between the mine operators and union officials broke down here yesterday following a series of meetings and a strike more than three weeks under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice G. O'Connor, who was acting conciliator.

YESTERDAY MR. JUSTICE O'Connor notified the Alberta government that attempts to reach a settlement had failed. He immediately sent notices to the parties asking them to appear before a conciliation board.

W. D. KING, deputy minister of the industry for Alberta, said he had been officially informed of the strike, but that any such strike was illegal under provisions of the Alberta labor act.

He said that there was no strike period between the date of application for appointment of a conciliator and 14 days after the award of the board.

May Be Clue To Missing Plane

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13.—(CP)—The mystery disappearance of the Trans-Canada air line plane which vanished April 29 last year with 15 persons aboard may now be solved with the report of a new clue brought here by Capt. James Salome, of the flight school No. 1.

His report is a piece of plane wreckage, believed to be a wing, which was found in the vicinity of Tricentral Island, between Galiano and Salt Spring Islands, about 50 miles west of here.

"It looked to me like a wing," he stated. "It was pretty well chewed up, silver-colored, and at first look it was like a plank. The piece I found was too big to get about. It was several feet long, about three feet wide, and a foot thick."

Capt. Salome said he marked the location of the wreckage. "I can take anybody to it within a 100 feet of it."

The plane was 30 miles from the lighthouse at Pottery Pass, Ballan Island, which reported hearing a plane the night the TCA passenger liner vanished.

A search party was sent to the wreckage. The wreckage was found in the vicinity of Tricentral Island, between Galiano and Salt Spring Islands, about 50 miles west of here.

No Solution Reached On Major Differences

HAVANA, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Seven weeks of debate have brought no sign of a solution for any of the major differences existing at the 58th-anniversary Havana Trade Conference.

The conference, called by the United Nations to work out an international trade organization charter, has passed the stage of "first read" on all the amendments submitted for the proposed draft of the charter. The amendments have been passed by the conference, but the charter has not been adopted.

Long, chairman of the board of the Imperial Board, urged Monday that names of such servicemen be supplied to Mrs. Edith Giesick, secretary of the board, Legislative Library, Edmonton.

SUPPLY OF FURS BETTER THIS YEAR.—Supply of furs to date this season is greater than at the same period last year, according to a survey by C. Harford, Winnipeg, Hudson's Bay company fur trader. There will be a surplus of furs, according to Harford. He is in Edmonton on a routine business trip to the city, accompanied by H. Sutherland, Winnipeg, company fur controller.

Winter at Edmonton's Power House

Clouds of steam from the Edmonton city power plant produce visible mist on the city of the current cold snap. Snow-covered pipes in the city in the foreground form citizens' assurance that come frost or blizzard, cold snap or mild spell, the city plant will produce electricity needed by Edmonton homes and industries. Maximum production at the plant is 44,000 kw.

Set Deadline Private Bills

Deadline for notification to the Legislature of intention to file a private bill for consideration of the Legislature has been set for Feb. 9, according to R. A. Andison, clerk of the Legislative Assembly. The session opens on Feb. 18. Those giving notification later than Feb. 9, are subject to penalty. Mr. Andison pointed out that a group of petitioners has already given a brief to the provincial cabinet Thursday morning at 10:30. This was announced Monday by Carl Harg, vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Labor to Present Views to Cabinet

The Alberta Federation of Labor will present a brief to the provincial cabinet Thursday morning at 10:30. This was announced Monday by Carl Harg, vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

The brief will be made up mainly of resolutions which were adopted at the recent A.F.L. convention held in Edmonton.

AFL executive members are George McLaughlin, Calgary, president; Gordon Cushing, Calgary, secretary; and Ernie Sinclair, Medicine Hat, and Fred Sneed and Anne McLaughlin, Lethbridge, and Alfred Farnham and Malcolm Altmire, Edmonton.

A meeting of the AFL provincial executive will be held in the Edmonton Labor Temple Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mining Regulations May Be Changed

Strip mining and its relation to other mining operations may call for the passage of special legislation, according to officials of the department of lands and mines on Monday. They were commenting on the conference of mine operators and union officials held in the legislative buildings on Friday and Saturday last week.

A further conference to consider special regulations in connection with the operation of this type of mine will be called soon. J. Harvie, deputy minister of lands and mines said Monday.

New regulations may take the form of an order-in-council or may form a part of a special bill to be presented to the legislature.

The week-end conference devoted a major part of its time to the consideration of amendments to the present mining legislation. Representatives of the operators, firm bosses and miners' unions attended the sessions along with M.L.A.s from mining constituencies.

The delegation, which was headed by the council's president, J. E. Henderson, also advocated the raising of price ceilings on all items in which the price is getting out of line in relationship to existing wages.

The delegation presented Mr. MacKinnon with an enlarged submission of its original plan calling for a National Labor Code.

The executive, representing 10,000 workers in the Edmonton district, requested the minister to study and support the submission of the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Seeking Persons Believed in City

Two missing persons are being sought through city police files. E. H. Baxter, organizer of surveys, stated Monday that the reports to the X-ray survey agency were to be dropping off. He urged citizens to help make the project successful by turning out when requested.

Fewer Taking Lessons by Mail

Number of pupils taking correspondence courses due to the teacher shortage has dropped from a year ago. Dr. W. H. Swift, deputy minister of education said Monday. At the end of 1940, the number taking their schooling at home was 15,000 and a year later was estimated at 10,000.

Teacher shortage at the year end was 500, compared with 600 a year ago. There are 489 centers at which correspondence courses are being offered.

Confesses Theft

Arrested in Calgary Jan. 8, Ernest Jackson, alias Jack McLean, a.k.a. Lane, has admitted to police that he took part in the Snowflake Laundry and Dry Cleaners here on New Year's Eve and stole several items. He was arrested shortly after he had entered Naglers Ltd. in Calgary.

Report $128,000,000 In New Business

Norwich Union Life Insurance Society's world-wide operations in 1941 produced new business of more than $128,000,000 (computed at $4.04 to the £ sterling) Corbet L. Drewry, the society's general manager for Canada reports.

This record volume of new business represents a gain of $36,000,000 over the 1940 figure.

Norwich Union Life's total business in force throughout the world is now in excess of $750,000,000.

$1,550 Donated Highway System

Contributions to the Trans-Canada Highway System Yellowhead Route Association, seeking to link Edmonton and the prairies with Vancouver via Jasper and Blue River, amount to $1,550, it was announced Monday.

E. T. Love, secretary-treasurer of the association, states that response of citizens of Edmonton for funds has proved most gratifying to Mayor Harry Ainlay, president of the association.

Mr. Love points out that there must be no slackening of effort, however, as Edmonton's share in the association's budget of $18,000, at the very least $5,000.

Edmonton business firms have been the major contributors to date.

Agree to Prohibit Whistle Blowing

Prohibition of train whistling and bell ringing within the city limits was agreed to in principle at Monday night city council meeting and second reading was given to a bylaw implementing the proposal.

The bylaw will now be forwarded to the Board of Transport Commissioners for study and approval, and copies also will be sent to the legal departments of railways operating in the city.

F. H. Keefe, Canadian National railways general superintendent, and J. H. Stroh, superintendent, Canadian Pacific Railway, appeared before council and expressed the companies would view with favor any measure that would reduce responsibility for accidents.

It was pointed out that, especially on the south side, railway crossings were very close together and the crossing-view in many cases very limited. T. E. Gerwin, city engineer, stated that the bylaw would be specifically exempted from the prohibition in the proposed bylaw.

The bylaw will be further studied by the bylaw committee. It was decided that the bylaw would be referred to the Board of Transport Commissioners and the legal departments of the railways.

The Book of Knowledge

(Department: The World)

Children's fashions in the United States in 1927. Girls were dressed much like their mothers. Boys' suits were fully trimmed.

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.

HOW PARIS HAS LED STYLES
From the Middle Ages, Paris has been the leader in fashions, especially women's fashions, before the days of cables, radio, fast mail and photography, women in countries distant from Paris followed French fashions a year or more behind.

This was true in the American colonies. It is true that simple clothes characterized New England and the smaller towns of all the colonies, but ladies of means in New York, Philadelphia and Charleston bought dresses and dress materials in Europe. And when they went to parties, they were very fine ladies indeed in their rich brocades and satins and laces.

Perhaps the most outstanding woman in the social life of the new Union was Nancy Willing, wife of William Willingham of Philadelphia. She was just 18 when, in 1780, she married the wealthy young merchant and banker. Three years later she and her husband went to Europe, where they lived for three years. The beautiful Willingham brought home from Paris many fashions full of fine satins and silks, family returned to Philadelphia in 1786.

Paris is a description of one of the costumes. She "blazed upon a large party in a dress which eclipsed any that had yet been seen. A robe à la Turque of black velvet, with white satin piping and sleeves, the whole trimmed with Ermine. A large bouquet of natural flowers, supported by a knot of diamonds, large Buckles, necklaces and earrings of diamonds. Her head ornamented with diamond spirals interspersed with artificial flowers above all waved a lowering plume of snow white feathers."

John Adams' wife wrote to a friend at about this time, "Mrs. Willingham has certainly given the laws to the ladies here, in fashion and elegance." During the rest of her life Mrs. Willingham went to Europe for clothing, furniture and delicacies for the table. In 1800 her daughter, a girl of 15, was criticized for her scanty attire. The Willingham ladies were, it seems, following the styles of the Napoleonic era.

Poor Planning Can Ruin Your Wedding

Marriages may be made in heaven but it takes some real down-to-earth planning for the wedding itself to be just so.

Start by deciding on the type of wedding you want. It is no easy affair. Once this is settled, you can start preparing the proper clothes.

For the informal wedding, you appear in a pastel dressmaker's suit or afternoon dress with matching accessories and appropriate hair.

For the semi-formal wedding, choose a wedding dress in white, off-white or pastel with a short veil and no train. Gloves are optional.

The formal wedding demands floor-length white or ivory with a long train and veil. Here you will carry a bouquet of white flowers or a prayer book.

In every case, the wedding procession revolves around the bride's costume. The clothes worn by the bride are selected to harmonize with the bride's.

How does the groom dress?—the attendants? Who stands where at the receiving line? How are the invitations handled? See our Reader Service booklet No. 204 for suggestions.

TCMORROW: Why a Duck Keeps Dry in Water

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Here is an ingenious idea presented by a mother who is desirous of keeping her runabout baby dry and clean without the constant use of rubber pants. The idea is for the use of a shield, used in the aquatic portions of the coveralls, similar to a dress shield used in the arm portion of a dress.

Mrs. G.H. writes out a description of her shield and I hope it will be clear to mothers who read this. I thought it might be of help to mothers whose younger and older babies are already in coveralls, to keep them comfortable and save on washing. I wish this idea had occurred to me when my 23-month-old boy was younger, for three coveralls a day was an ordinary wash for me last winter. I did not want to give in and put rubber pants on "man."

The idea is to use a cloth shield. The shield is pinned into each collar with four safety pins, thus doing away with extra pulling and tugging, as well as other unfavorable features of the rubber pants.

The sections of the cloth shield are cut from the cloth sections of a coverall pattern. They are cut around the neck, within an inch or two of the waist line in front and back and the same distance from the hem line. The outside edges are curved out to give some elasticity, but do not come to the side seams.

The sections are cut double for protection and a portion of the seam is left open top and bottom so that the shield may be slipped on and will drain away properly.

The material used is a pliable, waterproof, clear plastic. "I have used this shield for about six weeks with my year-old baby and I like it very much."

This might be an idea for some manufacturer of coveralls to adopt for their protectiveness. I hope you will cut out this description, if interested.

Mr. Adams' wife wrote to a friend at about this time, "Mrs. Willingham has certainly given the laws to the ladies here, in fashion and elegance." During the rest of her life Mrs. Willingham went to Europe for clothing, furniture and delicacies for the table. In 1800 her daughter, a girl of 15, was criticized for her scanty attire. DOROTHY DIX says:

Old And Modern Girl Each Had Good Points

A correspondent asks: "How does the modern girl differ from the girl of the past?"

Well, the modern girl differs from the girl of the past in many ways. She is more independent, more self-sufficient, and more assertive. She is more likely to be a career woman, and less likely to be a homemaker. She is more likely to be a single woman, and less likely to be a married woman.

Underneath, of course, there is still the same female person but it is almost all of her resemblance to the maiden of yesteryear. The modern girl is more like the girl of the past, or has the same ideals and aspirations than the maiden of yesteryear.

Take health, for instance. The old-fashioned girl thought it elegant and refined to be frail and delicate. The modern girl thinks it is a disgrace to be sickly, and if of any them has an ache or a pain they never mention it. If their sweethearts jilt them, in about two or three days they have found themselves new ones.

The girl of the past was abnormally ignorant of the world. She was brought up in a sheltered atmosphere in which every vital fact concerning life was carefully explained. She never even had a frank conversation with her mother, or her father, or her brother, or her sister.

The modern girl is cynical and wise beyond her years, and when she makes a detour off of the straight and narrow path it isn't through ignorance. And she is brutally frank. She discusses topics with any casual male acquaintance that her grandmother wouldn't have whispered to her husband, or her physician in the secrecy of her boudoir.

The old-fashioned girl was helpless. She was taught to trade or profession and had no way by which she could earn a dollar. She knew nothing about business, nothing about how to take care of herself.

make good, she chuckles. She corrects her error of judgment instead of sticking to it.

Such are the differences between the old-fashioned girl and the modern girl. Each had her good points and each fitted the age that produced them.

Bombs Explode
PARIS, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—Three workers were killed and another seriously injured when a stack of bombs exploded in an arsenal near Amiens, north of Paris, last night. The blast shook the entire village smashing most of its windows.

The old-fashioned girl looked at marriage from a different standpoint from the modern girl. She regarded it as a unit-dead-end part contract, and if the marriage turned out badly she suffered and was strong.

The modern girl marries with one eye on the divorce court, and if the venture turns out a failure, if she finds that she was mistaken in her feelings, or her husband doesn't

Flattery for Women

By William E. McKeeney

Several new Life Masters were created at the recent national championships tournament at the Chelsea Hotel in Atlantic City, N.J. One of them was Dr. K. Russ Storr of Philadelphia, who became Life Master No. 105.

The U.S. open individual championship was won by L. J. Kahala of Philadelphia, but Dr. Storr tied for second place with Mrs. J. E. Follie of Richmond, Va. This gave him sufficient points to put him over the 300 mark required for life mastery.

Dr. Storr's partner on today's day lines while live and happens to be her whole face a glow.

As long as we live, husband it does seem that he deserves our loyalty. As long as we live with a job, the concern for which we work is a life master of one.

Make Inquiry Into Land Sale

INISPAUL, Alta., Jan. 12.—(CP)—An Alberta government hearing will be held here Jan. 15 to inquire into the legal background of the sale of land by E. F. Stoumen of Pine Hill, Alta., to the Lake Louise Hotel of Southern Alberta. The hearing is part of the procedure governing such sales as required by the Municipalities Act passed at the last session of the legislature.

Mukden Gloomy Place Life Is Depressing In Manchurian City

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Jan. 13.—(AP)—"This chief city of Manchuria is better defended today than at any time since the Japanese surrender, and is probably the dulllest and most depressing place in all Nationalist China."

BARRING CIRCUMSTANCES beyond present reckoning, it seems secure for many months, at least from Communist conquest.

It is protected in depth by powerful fortifications manned by the Chinese government's best troops. Within the ring are the major industries. (Overland communication with China proper is cut off by Communist destruction of the railway.)

Within the defenses, the inhabitants lead disheartened lives, filled with unhappy recollections of the past, worries over the present and uncertainties over the future.

The Communists have penetrated the Nationalist defenses here in small bands who hit and run at night. Their threats have been more psychological and economic than military.

By blocking food imports, they have driven Mukden's price level higher than any city south of the Great Wall, to the distress of the populace. Coal prices in this winter climate are prohibitive.

There is a strict curfew from 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. which is strictly enforced. It gets dark at 3 p.m., these days, and electric lights are scarce and dim. Kerosene lamps and candles are expensive luxuries.

There is a complete absence of gaiety. Restaurants, movies and other places of amusement are closed well before curfew time. To visit friends means to get a dark, deserted street where sentries shoot challenges every few yards and arrest before the count.

Most people stay at home after dark, jumping nervously at the sound of gunfire and conversing bitterly on their favorite topics—high prices.

ONCE MUKDEN was an important industrial center, but its industries are crippled about 80 per cent by its factories after the Japanese surrender, and the Communist blockade has made the others idle.

Today the smelter and chemical plants stand against the bleak winter sky like monuments to a better time that is dead.

Jews Must Leave
BEYHOUT, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Lebanese government has ordered Jews to leave the country by Jan. 15.

Coach Will Name Ski Replacement

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—(CP)—A replacement for Pierre Jalbert, coach of the Canadian Olympic ski team who broke a leg in a fall at the St. Moritz, Switzerland, team who likely will be chosen from among the eight other male members of the squad, Jack Houghton, chairman of the technical board of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, said last night.

"Decision on who will replace the Quebec skier rests with Coach 'Bud' Cochran," Houghton said. "Although the team may now enter only four men in the downhill event and not add a fifth man to take Jalbert's spot."

HOUGHTON said that six athletes could compete for the fifth spot but that only four counted in the Olympic standings.

Canada's remaining men's downhill racers are Herb Sutherland of Montreal, Harvey Clark of New Brunswick, and the Irish brothers, Bert and Patsy, of St. Catharines, Ont., and Bill of Victoria.

Liscombe Leads AHL Point List

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Carl Liscombe, veteran left-winger of Providence Reds, tops the American Hockey League's individual scoring parade today.

Liscombe picked up 12 points in four games during the past week to boost his output to 64 for more than his linemate, Bill Gadsden, has compiled. France garnered 11 points in the same span.

Liscombe also has scored the most goals, 31, while teammate Ray Spivey leads in the mid-major department with 41 assists.

Pittsburgh's defenseman Phil Sams of Edmonston passed the century mark in points recently, minus his league-leading total of 101 while his teammate, Ben Hooten continued to show the way for leading scorers.

Bastian has allowed 94 goals in 26 games for a 2.54 average and in addition is tied with Springfield's Floyd Ferras for the lead in shutouts at two.

THE LEADERS:
Liscombe, Providence 64
Spivey, Providence 41
Sams, Edmonston 101
Hooten, Providence 101
Bastian, Springfield 94
Ferras, Springfield 94

Nipawin Bonspiek Next Year Jan. 5

NIPAWIN, Sask., Jan. 13.—(CP)—Bates for the third annual Nipawin automobile bonspiel were announced here Monday by Cliff McDonald, president of the local curling club, which is sponsoring the event, richest of its kind in Canada. The dates for 1949 are Jan. 5-12.

McDonald said only one team will be conducted along the same lines as the one now in progress, with four automobiles as the major prize and valuable merchandise awards in the three qualifying and consolation events.

Non-Tile Boat ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Willie Pie of Hartford, Conn., interweight champion, won a 2nd place in the 125-lb. class at the Jim M. McKelister, Baltimore, Md., boxing tournament here last night. Pie's fight was not at stake.

Pie, 24, weighed 128½; McKelister 127. The prize for the manufacture of counterfeit money was perfected by Gail Brown in 1935.

New Year's Day Sex Murder Is Solved

"She Began to Scream and I Lost My Head," Knife-Slayer of Girl, Eight, Tells Police

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13.—(AP)—A slender flight attendant who likes to play the trumpet told police that she might have killed eight-year-old Sheila Ann Tuley with a kitchen knife in Cleveland, New Year's Day when she reportedly killed her two young friends, found them dead and went to a motion picture show.

"She began to scream and I lost my head," Harold Beach, Jr., 23, was quoted in a police headquarters report filled with detective and newspaper men.

The little girl's body, the dead teen-ager's, was found with blood, was found on a neighbor's porch less than a mile from the scene. She had disappeared earlier in the day while on her way to a drug store to buy back to her father, Edward J. Tuley.

Detectives said Beach, a 5-foot-10-inch, 160-pounder who worked five feet four, was arrested yesterday at a filling station where he had worked since coming to Baltimore Saturday. Cleveland detectives were told by him back to his hometown during the day.

HE WENT OVER his story with police officials and reporters last night. He smiled a great deal and once or twice laughed out loud at questions put to him.

Asked if he understood what he had done, Beach shrugged his shoulders, grinned wryly and replied: "What I can get is death—no what?"

Tuley, a 34-year-old machanic, also lived in Cleveland when told that Beach had confessed.

"IF IT IS AT ALL possible, I want to witness his execution," he said. "If this man is the killer, that still goes."

Beach told Baltimore police he had not come here to escape arrest. "I knew I wouldn't get away with it. I left fingerprints all over."

Send Easter Food
PARIS, Jan. 13.—(CP)—Canadian members of the Independent Order of Foresters will send about 12,000 food parcels for members in Britain at Easter. Tom Robertson of Toronto, past supreme chief ranger of the fraternal order, said here yesterday. The order has a membership of 100,000 in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom. About 60 per cent are Canadians.

Greetings for Barbara Ann

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower yesterday passed up an opportunity to crack down on a New Hampshire "draft evader" movement, sending some political analysts immediately interpreted this to mean he is virtually certain to be elected as the presidential nominee.

Although an spokesman declared the chief of staff still "wants nothing to do with politics," Eisenhower declined to comment on the filing in New Hampshire of a state of nominating convention delegates pledged to him.

Meaning the draft Eisenhower announced that his name will go before the voters in a second state—Pennsylvania—in a preferential primary April 27.

Major Gen. Floyd Parks, chief of the army public information division, issued this statement: "General Eisenhower will make no statement with regard to the New Hampshire primary, he has reiterated on many previous occasions that he wants nothing to do with politics. He has not changed his mind."

A Democratic national committee official, who declined to be quoted by name, said he has been told that Eisenhower is "flirting" with the idea of seeking the Republican nomination but "probably hasn't finally made up his mind."

Think Bookie War Cause of Shooting

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 13.—(CP)—Police suggested that a "bookmaker" war may have been responsible for the shooting last night of Allen Stickley, 37, who was taken to hospital with a gunshot wound to the back and suffering loss of blood. Stickley's condition was serious.

Stickley was shot as he entered a motorcar in the east end business district. Two other men were being questioned.

According to police, Stickley was with the two other men in the car and all three left it for a short time. When they returned, the car was crushed in the rear and the two men were fired one after the other. The man fired one shot with a revolver which struck Stickley, then the man fled.

United Nations Has Final Say

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 13.—(AP)—The United States agreed yesterday that the United Nations would have the last word in deciding whether or not any individual applicant should be accredited to the United Nations.

This agreement was reached at an all-out conference between representatives of the U.S. government and the United Nations for the procedures for accreditation of correspondents.

Maintain Balance

LONDON, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—The British treasury secretary last night said that a financial agreement has been reached between the two governments to agree to encourage trade between the two countries and that the same time maintain an approximate balance in payments without loss of gold or other assets.

All Are Rescued From Burning Ship

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Two rescue ships which sped through gale-swept seas completed the rescue last night of all men forced to abandon the U.S. army's blimp "funeral ship," the Joseph V. Connolly, which still burned fiercely in the north Atlantic some 900 miles east of New York.

The Connolly's survivors, 45 of the crew and one passenger, had shivered for nine hours in lifeboats buffeted by high seas before they were taken aboard the rescue ship—the Gen. R. E. Callan and the United Victory.

A message from the Gen. Callan received last night at the New York port of embarkation, some 10 hours after an engine-room fire broke out aboard the Connolly, sending its crew and 100 passengers over its sides in a northeast gale, said:

All survivors picked up. No lives lost. Minor burns and injuries among survivors.

The Callan's message said the Connolly was ablaze "from stem to stern with constant eruptions from 40 to 50 feet," and that an army salvage tug en route to the scene to guard the burning ship would "not be able to come within 100 miles of the flaming derelict."

A little ingenuity and built themselves a comfortable home.

Seeks Buried Pirate Gold In Mid-Town

GREEN COVE SPRINGS, Fla., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Eighty-year-old G. B. Mosley started yesterday for $100,000 in gold he said pirates buried many years ago.

Using a dragline, he dug a 25-foot hole in the sidewalk and the street, about 50 feet from the nearest building.

Mosley got grudging permission from the city to dig the hole, 1945 to dig for the gold, location of which he said was given to him by an old pirate, a resident.

He signed a contract then to pay the city 10 per cent or $500,000 of whatever he found. The town council still has not run out of operating funds in its 10th anniversary celebration. Reports yesterday were that two Jacksonville doctors and a local lawyer were working on it.

Fire Election
DUBLIN, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—President Sean O'Kelly of Eire announced last night that on the advice of Prime Minister Eamon De Valera he has dissolved the Dail (parliament) and ordered a general election in Eire Feb. 4.

Noting that he will conclude Jan. 21 and the new house will meet on Feb. 4, O'Kelly said he believed there are more than 400 candidates for the 10 seats, the highest number of candidates ever to contest an Eire election.

Mary Pickford Appeals for Kiddies

BY GEORGE KITCHEN
OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—(CP)—Mary Pickford, America's sweetheart of the silent screen, is back in town today to continue her call for funds for the Canadian appeal for children's rehabilitation.

The campaign, opening Feb. 9, is expected to have an objective range between $50,000 and $100,000.

Pickford gave the appeal a preliminary start last night when she told a theatre audience that "these children are the world's most neglected."

She spoke before a capacity audience which also attended the world premiere of her new picture, "Sleep, My Love," shown before Vincent Alexander, the governor-general, Viscountess Alexander and Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Urging Canadians to help feed the "hungry minds and bodies" of the children, she said: "Pickford said Canada was known throughout the world 'as a country with a heart.'"

And Then They Paid 10 Cents For Just Water

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—(CP)—Talking of prices, there are some places in Montreal today that cost 10 cents for hot water costs 10 cents.

It all came about when some of the independent restaurants raised the price of a cup of coffee to 10 cents, from 5 cents, to 10 cents. A few restaurants then started bringing their own tea and coffee to a cup of water.

Then the water, only to find the 10-cent charge on their checks anyway.

ATHENS, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—The British treasury secretary last night said that a financial agreement has been reached between the two governments to agree to encourage trade between the two countries and that the same time maintain an approximate balance in payments without loss of gold or other assets.
